

BURGUNDY PROJECT 2: VISTING A VILLAGE IN THE CÔTE D'OR

GOALS:

- To immerse yourself into one village in the Côte d'Or, playing the role of tourist or trip planner to discover more about one particular place.
- To expand your thinking of Burgundy beyond the wines and vineyards, and include culture and history.

Burgundy is often only discussed in terms of vineyards, wine, and the main cities (Dijon and Beaune). But the essence and the beauty of Burgundy is in the tiny villages and hamlets throughout the region.

INSTRUCTIONS:

Pick a village in the stretch of the Côte d'Or (from Marsannay in the north, to Santenay in the south) other than Beaune. Each one of these locations contains a little hamlet of a town, sometimes with thousands of residents and sometimes in the low 100s.

You'll be exploring this village and learning a ton about it.

Suggested resources for information beyond any books you own: a basic Google search (of course), Wikipedia, the Burgundy tourism websites, TripAdvisor, Google map and image sources. For finding restaurants, opening a google map of the village then simply entering "restaurant" in the map search works well. Cross-reference your findings via Trip Advisor.

NAME OF VILLAGE: _____

Elevation of town: _____

Current population: _____

1960 (or so) population: _____

Area in square miles: _____

Are they right on the D974 freeway, or away from it? _____

Jot down a short summary, a few sentences, on the history of the village: _____

Key historic sites in the village or nearby: _____

Can you find hotels in the village? Airbnb or VRBO rentals? Which would you prefer? Pick one place to stay. _____

Name three Domaines or Négociants located in the village: _____

Name two affordable/quick restaurants that you'd like to visit: _____

Name two fancy restaurants that you would like to visit: _____

Are there any wine bars in town? _____

What is there for a "non-wine" tourist to do here? _____

Do you get the impression that you'd need a car rental or hire to explore this village fully, or could it be done walking or by bike? _____

Knowing what you now know, if you had a friend traveling to this village, map out a day for them, including where to stay: _____
